SUSPECTS HELD BY COURT
Police Believe Wilmington Bandit Killed Station Agent in Winchester

With the arrest of a third alleged member of the gang of bandits which the police of the State and municipal forces believe was responsible for the murder of Ralph Brewster, Boston, and Maine ticket agent at Winchester, the authorities today declared that their search for the daring leader of the band was closing in upon the fugitive.

The third alleged gangster was Ralph Cobb, twenty-one years old, of No. 19 Chelsea street, East Boston, who was found in a Foster street garage.

He was held, as were the other two prisoners, James McLaughlin and Joseph C. Pelletier, both of East Boston, as a suspicious person.

Cobb and McLaughlin were identified by Postmaster Charles D. Anderson of Court Square station as the men who saw riding by Row's Warf in an automobile April 27, the night Harry's Lunch at No. 115 Broad street was entered and $50 in cash and some non-negotiable bonds were stolen.

This is one of the jobs held to the FBI.

McLaughlin, Cobb and Cobb were arraigned in East Boston Court today, charged with breaking and entering in the night time. They were seen in the court at hearing May 18.

CLUB FOUND.
Tools and other articles stolen from the North Water station, near where Station Agent Brewster was killed, were found in the hands of the three men today.

Another club found was a 22-caliber revolver, believed to be that with which Mr. Brewster was killed. Though gratified at the third arrest, the detectives and special officers working on the case today declared they would not rest until they had captured Frank Tarantola, believed to be the leader of the gang, whose headquarters at Silver Lake, Massachusetts, was raided Saturday night by the local and State police.

They are also seeking for Webster Cobb, brother of Ralph, and who is said to have escaped, paid for by the Silver Lake boss at the time of the raid.

AUTO HITS FENCE; THREE ARE INJURED

Three men were cut and bruised today when an automobile sped a sidewalk and crashed into a fence at Perkins and Caldwell streets, Somerville. They were: William Murphy of No. 18 Linwood street, Lorin Whitehead of No. 16 Warren avenue and Charles Thompson of No. 18 Fox street, all of Somerville. They were given medical attention at the Maymarket Relief Hospital. The machine was driven by Murphy.

FOURTH TEXAS NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY MOB
Ft. Worth, Tex., May 8.—The body of a negro, Tom Cornish, brother of John Cornish, one of the three victims burned at the stake by a mob Saturday, was found hanging to a tree limb today by a farmer residing near Killeen.

FEWSTER OF YANKEES SUE FOR ALIENATION
Baltimore, May 8.—William Fewster of the New York Yankees, has been sued by Joseph T. Byrne for alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, Grace C. Byrne.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS FOR HAVING REVOLVER
Ernest Brown, colored, who terrorized a crowd at Roxbury Crossing by flourishing a revolver until he was knocked unconscious by a club hauled at him, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction in the Roxbury Court today on a charge of carrying a revolver without a license. He appealed.

WILSON ASKS DEFEAT OF U. S. SENATOR REED
St. Louis, May 8 (By the Associated Press).—Referring to Senator James A. Reed as a "single term" President Wilson, in a letter to former Governor Len V. Stephens, made public today, asked the defeat of Missouri's senator senator to "redeem the reputation" of the Democratic party.

It's Spot Cash or to the Steel Bars for Hooch Set

Monday is five-dollar day in Walham Court.

Men who discover hooch on Sunday line up before the bar. It is the one bar that they show no inclination to face.

Recently in Judge Michael Connolly's court there were many repeaters. Five-dollar fines didn't halt them. Men who couldn't pay all on the spot paid in installments.

"No more," said Judge Connolly a week ago. "All cash or to the jug."

Today eight lined up. "Five each," said the judge. Bang! Eight five-dollar bills were slapped down!

TRANSIT PLAN FOR GREATER BOSTON

The creation of a Metropolitan Transit District, to include a score of cities and towns within a radius of six miles of Boston, to unite all the trolley lines in that territory, to take over the Boston subway and eventually to electrify the railroad branches, linking them in a massive trolley system, is provided in a bill introduced today in the House of Representatives.

Richard, who is House chairman of the committee, drafted the bill at the instance of the committee's desire to project an elaborate scheme for development of the transportation facilities in the populous district. He has been in frequent conference on it with Attorney-General Allen.

The bill provides for the creation of a Metropolitan Transit Commission of five members, to include Chairman Henry C. Atwell of the State Department of Public Utilities, Chairman James A. Bailey of the Metropolitan District Commission, Chairman John N. Cole of the State Department of Public Works, a citizen of the district to be appointed by Governor Clegg and a citizen of Boston to be appointed by Mayor Curley.

TAKE ALL FACILITIES.
The new commission would have immediate charge over the railway, trolley, streetcar, highway and subway lines in Arlington, Belmont, Boston, Braintree, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Mattapan, Revere, Roxbury, South Boston, Weymouth, and Weymouth.

It would map out developments and unitification of operation of all such lines as the North Shore, the Boston Elevated, hearing them to the elevated for operation at a single rate of fare. One of the immediate outcome would be a single fare from Hyde Park to Revere Beach.

All the trolley lines in the district would be leased to the Elevated for operation.

ARREST 2 IN JACKSON DEATHS

Hotel Owner and Fumigation Expert Held in Tragedy of Aged Lawrence Couple

New York, May 8.—Charged with murdering Mrs. Freeman M. Jackson, formerly Mrs. Anna Warren of Lawrence, Mass., and her second husband, wealthy Freeman Jackson of New York and Florida, Eli Du Puy, proprietor of the Hotel Margaret, and Albert Bradish, a vermin exterminator, have been arrested here.

The case is one of the strangest in police annals.

The Jacksons, recently returned from their home in Florida, were found dead in their apartments at the Hotel Margaret, Brooklyn Heights.

The police had a theory they had been poisoned, while members of their families, including Mrs. Jackson's son, Winifred Warren, of Lawrence, believed death was due to accidental ptomaine poisoning.

District Attorney Ruston of Kings County had the bodies exhumed and a second autopsy performed. The second autopsy showed that death was due to poisoning by cyanogen gas.

CHARGE NEGLIGENCE.
Subsequent police investigation showed that the gas had been used to fumigate the rooms occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.

It is now claimed that Du Puy, proprietor of the hotel, and Bradish, who superintended the fumigation, were criminally negligent in failure to properly seal the rooms in which the deadly fumigating gas was used.

Because both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were wealthy, there was at first a suspicion that they had been murdered by some one interested in their money.

But when Mr. Jackson's man by her first husband, Russell Warren, had suddenly vanished from Lawrence, led to a fruitless search for him.

SON AGED BUT $15,000.
In 1901, Mrs. Warren was prominent in Lawrence. Her first husband and her son Winifred were prominent in fraternal and Masonic circles and had been made by her well-known figure.

The death of the couple revealed pre-nuptial agreements by which Mrs. Howard Bradish of East Orange, N. J., a niece of his first wife, retained all Jackson's estate, valued in the hundreds of thousands, while Winifred Warren, Mrs. Jackson's son, received but $25,000.

Mrs. Marshall proposed to her 500 friends.

The news spread all over the country. Bachelors and widowers neglected to note.

That Maiden girl accepted him and so they laid their hearts at her feet.

Mrs. Marshall waits them to sleep.

Despite the fact she is happily married and is settled with her husband in a cozy little home, Mrs. Marshall, who was formerly Miss Winifred S. Davidson, burst into the public eye a short time ago with a bang when she revealed she had finally decided to wed Marshall after he had proposed to her exactly 666 times.

At the same time she explained she had received cautious proposals of marriage from other suitors. Then came the wedding of the pretty miss.

WAR HERO ACCUSES SOLON OF PLOT

Young Briton Says Culberson Sought to Block Marriage to Texas's Daughter

Newark, N. J., May 8.—Alexander E. Robertson, youthful British war hero, will submit to the British embassy his startling charge that he was kidnaped by private detectives in the pay of Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas to prevent his marriage to the Senator's daughter, Mary.

Aided by private detectives of his own he was today gathering up the loose ends of evidence and preparing to fight.

Informed by these preparations, it is reported, the Culbersons are making to emphasize him and arrange a conference.

The young Briton, who has already caused the arrest of John F. Ellis, the prison detective he alleged was the leader in the attempt to kidnap him to South America, will demand from the British authorities that they ask the American State Department to order further arrests.

Robertson's story is like one from a fairy tale book, with its beautiful maiden, its knight from foreign parts its frowning parent. Its attempt to get the true lower out of the way for fair money or foul.

The young man says he was arrested in New Jersey on the pretense that he had stolen property from the British American Veterans Association in New York. Once in the power of Ellis and the others, he changed his story.

BRITISH WAR HERO CHARGES U. S. SENATOR TRIED TO KIDNAP HIM to Boston, the plan being to put him aboard a boat bound for South America.

Senator Culberson's friends in Washington today frankly admitted that he had objected to the attempt to kidnap him, but that he knew little of the former soldier and that both the man and girl were too young.

The Texas statesman, it was conceded, had retained Ellis, but only to investigate, not to kidnap.

Charles W. Jurney, private secretary to Culberson, said the kidnaping story was ridiculous. He added that Robertson had volunteered to "prove" himself by going to South America and making good, but changed his mind when he got to Boston.

The report that the Culbersons were seeking a truce with the detained young lover is based on the fact that Jurney has been watching him and Miss Culberson has left the Boston Army School, where she met Robertson.

It is the opinion of the police that all the parties in the affair, except Senator Culberson, are to have a conference in some secluded place. This view of the case is strengthened by the fact that James R. Nugent, former Democratic boss of New Jersey, is acting as Robertson's counsel.

Nugent is a close friend of Culberson's. It is believed that his appearance in the case marks Culberson's conditional surrender to his would-be kidnappers.

Senator's Detectives Deny Kidnap Charges

New York, May 8.—Denial that attempts were made to drive Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran, out of the country because of a love affair with the daughter of Senator Culberson of Texas, was made today by the Bureau Detective Agency, which was retained to gather information about him.

Robertson's movements have been of his own accord, it was said.

The head of the agency here declared Robertson's charges that two detectives had impersonated Federal officers were "blank" and added that John P. Ellis, already arrested on a charge of kidnaping, was no longer with the bureau.

MOONSHINE PARTY FATAL TO SPRINGFIELD MAN

ALLEN REFUSED MORE POWER BY LEGISLATORS

Attorney-General J. Weston Allen's demand for authority to summon persons before him, to place them under oath and then to put them through examination has been defeated by the legislative committee on Judiciary. It became known today.

Mr. Allen's demand for such authority has been made by him to two sessions of the Legislature. It was first made in its report which contained charges that later resulted in the removal of Nathan A. Turtas as District Attorney of Middlesex County. The Legislature defeated his demand at that time.

Mr. Allen had asserted that, if such power had been vested in his office, he would have been enabled to remove Charles Ponzi still to have cracked the Ponzi bubble before it attained serious dimensions.

While the committee's vote has been cast against him, Mr. Allen is expected to marshal his forces in the Legislature for a further fight to acquire that power.

The committee today filed two bills favorable to the attorney-general in the Senate. One bill would allow him to convene special sessions of the grand jury. Another, based on his recommendation, would prevent a district attorney or an assistant district attorney from prosecuting or filing a criminal case unless he stated his reasons in writing to the court.

ASK INJUNCTION AGAINST REV. MR. CURTIS

An injunction to restrain the Rev. Edwin Curtis from preaching in the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn and from occupying the pulpit at No. 13 Holden street, Brooklyn, was sought by nine church members in Supreme Court today.

It was the first legal step taken in the clash among church members and the Boston Presbytery which grew out of the criticism of the preacher's alleged acts in blessing French fried potatoes and baptizing a dog.

Seeking the injunctions were these church members: Samuel J. McKeilly, Hugh W. McCracken, Daniel Marshall, Frank W. Phillips, Robert J. Stanfield, Albert M. Hayes, Robert Paul, Robert H. M. Clark and John McKinnon. They filed suit against the church and these members: Charles B. M. Knowles, Daniel M. MacLeod, Samuel Martin, William Harris, Scott McNelly, John Patterson, Matthew McNelly, John Patterson, and William McCarthy.

Members appearing in the suit represent the two factions which split on the action of the Presbytery in ousting the Rev. Mr. Curtis. They are Curtis and anti-Curtis factions, the former in the majority. When the Boston Presbytery ordered the pastor's services dispensed with, church members met and re-elected him as their pastor, ignoring the Presbytery's action.

Mrs. Berwick's suicide was the result of a long period of melancholy.

GRILL SKIPPER IN SEIZURE OF RUSSIAN GEMS

Captain of Muskegon May Be Prosecuted on Charges of Attempted Smuggling

Captain Harry Wash of the United States line freighter Muskegon, was grilled for an hour today by Collector of the Port W. W. Luffin, relative to the quantity of opium, jewels, rugs and contraband seized in a search of the Muskegon yesterday.

Captain Wash stuck to the story he told Deputy Surveyor Moses E. Mann at the time of the seizure. He declared he knew nothing of the presence of the opium on his ship, and that he had no intention to smuggle in the thousands of dollars worth of jewels and other articles seized.

Captain Wash had listed on his cargo manifests the jewelry, rugs, vestments and other loot no question would have been raised. Much of it would not have been dutiable. One of the rugs seized was told, unofficially appraised as worth $1250. One of the pieces of jewelry, a lavalliere, has twenty-five diamonds, said to be probably worth $4,000.

MRS. HUBBARD EXECUTOR OF ESTATE

Mrs. Carrie N. Hubbard, confined in Charles Street Jail, under indictment for the murder of her husband, William H. Hubbard, the Germanic manufacturer, is named as chief beneficiary and executor in Hubbard's will, filed for probate today.

The will, filed at the courthouse, was made January 13, 1917. It names J. Marshall Hubbard and Mrs. Hubbard as executors.

It leaves the land and camp at Lakes Winnepesaukee, N. H., to the two sons, J. Marshall and Edward H. Hubbard, and Mrs. Hubbard enjoys their use during her lifetime.

The two sons receive all Hubbard's personal effects, and his one-half interest in the geriatric business, from which they are to pay their mother $100 a month as long as she lives and remains unmarried. The sons get $1,000 each.

The residue of the estate goes to Mrs. Hubbard.

John A. Johnson is named as trustee for the estate left to Edward H. Hubbard, a minor at the time the will was made.

GARAGES ARE OPPOSED BY PROPERTY OWNERS

Two hearings on protests against garages, one in Dorchester and the other in the Back Bay, were heard today by the Street Commissioners.

Representative John McNamara of South Boston backed a delegation of property owners in protest against a permit being granted Robert G. Jones for a garage and the storage of 1,000 gallons of gasoline at No. 5 Suden street, Dorchester. He claimed it was a residential section. Back Bay property owners near the Public Garden opposed a petition of Anna L. Johnson, wife of Dr. David J. Johnson, Institution Commissioner of the city, who applied for a permit to build a two-car garage at No. 113 Commonwealth avenue.

FATHER LIBERTI PASSES AWAY

Rev. Francis Liberti, assistant priest for five years at St. Anthony's Church, East Boston, is dead at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, after a four months' illness.

Father Liberti was one of the best-known Italian priests in this part of the country, and his fame as a pulpit orator was countrywide. He was born sixty years ago in San Giovanni, Italy, and came to America twenty-one years ago. For many years he was pastor at the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, East Boston. Then he was assistant at the Church of the Sacred Heart, North Square, going from there five years ago to St. Anthony's.

The body was taken to the rectory of the church today. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock it will be taken into the church and placed on a catafalque before the altar.

The Office of the Dead will be chanted by the priests of St. Anthony's together with priests of surrounding parishes. Members of the Knights of Columbus and of the various parish societies will act as a guard of honor.

Funeral services will be held in the church on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. A solemn requiem mass will be sung by the Rev. Ernest Ruess, pastor of the church. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

URGE LAW TO PLACE WOMAN UPON BOARD

Demand that one member of the Industrial Accident Board must be a woman, and urging the passage of a law providing for this, a number of prominent women appeared before the Legislative Committee on State Administration today.

NEW FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN CHINA

Hankow, May 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Peihai railway north of Kiangsu has been cut, and it is reported that Chao Ti, military governor of the province of Hunan, has started hostilities against the forces of Wu Pei-fu.

Tientsin, May 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—General Wu Pei-fu, who came to Tientsin from Peking in pursuit of the Manchurian general, Chang Tso-Lin, was ordered by the Allied military commanders here to leave the city, as his presence was held to be in violation of the 1911 protocol.

Two thousand of Chang's soldiers were reported in Tangku, on the north side of the river, where their demands for trains to convey them to Mukden were fruitless, no locomotives being available.

Numbers of Manchurian soldiers were discovered last night south of the former German concession here. American and Chinese guards were sent to beat off any attempt at invasion, but the men proved docile.

PASTOR DRIVE TO SUICIDE BY GIRL

Charged Maine Preacher With Improper Advances; Now Retracts His Story

Mrs. Hill, May 8.—The suicide of the Rev. Charles E. Carlton, who shot himself on Easter, was due to false charges made against him by a hysterical young girl who has since retracted them, it has been learned.

The Rev. Mr. Carlton was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church here. He was fifty-one years old, and had worked here for years. On the afternoon before Easter a number of people had been helping him decorate his church for the special Easter service. Among them was a thirteen-year-old girl of nervous and excitable temperament. While the others were out of the church, the girl came screaming to the door crying that the minister had put his arms around her in an improper way. Her mother believed her, and in the evening a crowd of people called on the pastor at his home and told him he must never preach there again.

After walking about the country throughout the night, the pastor went home at daylight, wrote a note asserting his innocence, and shot himself to death.

Now it has been ascertained that the girl, at the time of the affair in the church, had been on a staphylococcus, having some decorations, she fell from the ladder and the minister caught her.

She was frightened and began to cry, despite his attempts to soothe her.

The now admits that his attention to her was harmless, and that the charge she made against him was false, brought on by the hysteria of the moment.

The town is stunned by the revelation, and it is thought that messages will be sent to the disunion conference of the church, asking that some official be taken that will clear his name.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY Women's Peace League Delegates Guests at Tea Today

By BETTY ALDEN.

THERE is keen interest among smart set members in the tea for which Miss Ellen P. Mason is opening her home at No. 1 Walnut street, this afternoon.

The occasion is in honor of Frauella Gertrude Beer, Miss Theresa Poterchek-Arnold and Mrs. Annet Robinson, the three women now in this country under the auspices of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Mrs. Manfred Bowditch (Margaret Pearmain), the daughter of the Sumner B. Pearmain of Beacon street, is to receive the guests, assisted by Mrs. Alice L. Mowbray. Presiding over the tea tables are to be such prominent social lights as Mrs. David Cheever, Mrs. Charles H. Bond and Mrs. John Sargent Codman.

All three of the visiting delegates have been asked to speak briefly at 3:30 on world peace and the international spirit in Europe, and the guests have been strongly urged to arrive in time for this discussion.

Since the arrival of this interesting trio of European women they have been guests of Miss Helen Cheever at the latter's home, at No. 157 Boylston street, and they are being made the recipients of much social attention during their stay in Boston.

Last night Mrs. John F. Moore gave a dinner for them at her home on Mt. Vernon street, preceding the wide-spread Ford Hall meeting, at which her three guests later were the speakers. Mrs. Moore, by the way, is one of the most keenly interested members of the advisory council of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, under whose auspices the distinguished visitors spoke at Ford Hall.

That the arrival in Boston of these three women has created a considerable furor is attested by among Boston's "first family" contingent, may be seen by the decidedly fashionable group of women who were enlisted as patronesses for the Ford Hall meeting, and are anxious to render all possible courtesies to the European visitors. In this group are such prominent matrons as Mesdames Ernest A. Codman, Philip de Normandie, J. Malcolm Forbes, G. Lee, N. Peabody, Hailwell, Roland M. Baker, Joseph Brewster, Christopher Elliot, as well as the Misses Rose Lamb, Agnes G. Balch and Mary Amory Green.

A REPRESENTATIVE gathering of Boston's socially elect is assured for the audience which will attend the performance of Satcha Quirry's "Beranger," which the Harvard Dramatic Club is presenting tonight and Wednesday evening at Brattle Hall, Cambridge, as well as on Wednesday afternoon in the Copley Theatre.

The play, which has been translated by Howard Phillips, business manager of the club, will be presented in the full costumes and settings of the period. "Beranger" is an historical comedy in three acts, dealing with the life of the French Revolution and the life of the poet Beranger, and with settings and costumes true to the period, a most colorful presentation is expected.

This is only the second time that a play of Quirry's has been presented in Boston, and the first time that a play by this author will be given as it has been written.

Boston society is so closely allied with the many social activities centering about the historic institution across the Charles that it seems only natural that the patroness list of the Harvard Dramatic Club to be replete with cognomens of no end of distinction.

Among the matrons whose names adorn this list are Mesdames Oakes Ames, Harcourt Amory, Hugh Bancroft, Walter C. Baylies, Manfred Bowditch, Edward D. Brandages, S. Parker Bremer, Louis Chauvenet, Algeron Codrington, Channing Cox, Robert Cushman, Samuel H. Dutton, Robert W. Emmens, St. William C. Endicott, J. Charles H. Fiske, Allan Forbes, Reginald Foster, J. Livingston Grant, Norman P. Haseltine, Roger I. Lee, George H. Monks, Montgomery Kullens, Everett S. Lunt, Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., Francis B. Sears, Alden A. Thorndike, Charles G. Washburn, Alexander Whitfield, Delia Wright, Edward Wigglesworth, J. Borram Williams, and S. Huntington Wolcott, as well as the Misses Amy Lowell and Alice M. Longfellow.

BOSTON LOSE NEW HOSPITAL FOR VETERANS

By CHARLES O. POWER

Washington, May 8.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans Bureau, announces that a new government hospital for the disabled soldiers of New England will be located near Northampton and that only President Harding can make his change of mind.

The hospital is to cost $1,500,000. This is to come from the Landers bill appropriation of $17,000,000 for new hospital construction. Practically all of this money will be used to provide modern hospitals for the so-called "shell shocked."

The official name is neuropsychiatric hospital. It is to be a small one, only men with serious mental and nervous afflictions will be admitted as patients.

The new Northampton institution will be of the type known as a "shell shocked" hospital. The N. P. camp is being cared for in various places in New England by the Veterans Bureau has been averaging 500 daily.

Colonel Forbes feels confident the President will approve his choice. He admits there is great force behind the argument advanced by the Boston American for locating the new hospital in Northampton. He states, that Boston is the central point of the greater population of Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, and that an army staff of convalescing soldiers, secured from Harvard and Tufts and from the Harvard Psychiatric and the McLean Hospital at Waverley.

An offer of a free site of 200 acres, located between Northampton and Northampton, has been received by the Bureau. It is too good, for an economic standpoint, to turn down, he says. Besides that, he is of the opinion that hospitals for mental and nervous cases should not be near large cities. They offer too many temptations for patients to stray into places that are not cool for them.

SITES AVAILABLE HERE.

Colonel Forbes has been picked for other districts. And ideal country site not near Boston is available. Colonel Forbes will not dispute these facts, but he is inclined to stand pat on the Northampton decision.

Senior Lodge saw the director of the Charles Hunt, a nurse located in the yard office, was reproached by the white men for working for the red during the strike, he was killed, and the rock battle resulted.

HARDING PLANS TO BE QUEST OF SEN. EDGE

Washington, May 8.—President Harding has made tentative plans to leave Washington Friday for a visit to New Jersey as the guest of Senator Edge of that State.

The President is expected to stay in New Jersey for a short period of recreation on the golf links. He plans to go first to Roswell, the home of Senator Edge, near Atlantic City, and may also be the guest of Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey.

Hab Minister Learns How to Attract by Advertising

Some of the advantages of properly directed publicity were outlined to a gathering of Baptist ministers in Chatham Hall today by W. B. Bamberg of the Babson Institute. He said:

"Clergymen should get the good will of the newspapers for their church by getting a message before a vastly greater number of hearers, in announcing the services planned in your church be sure to be distinctive. Tell what you have in the way of service, what message you are to deliver to the people."

"Get happy, satisfied, intelligent people for us. Maintain a high standard of hospitality in your church."

The principles of advertising are to attract notice, command interest and inspire action. In your church, you must have a high standard of service, what message you are to deliver to the people."

CROKER RULED WARRANT FOR BY OTHERS, SONS CLAIM

By International News Service

New York, May 8.—The basis for the fight for the fortune of Richard Croker, the former Tammany chief, was revealed today. Richard Croker, Jr., announced, speaking for himself, that he would fight in the courts the aged man's disposal of his property to Mrs. Beulah Edmond Croker, his second wife.

"My father," he said, "had been known for many years as a strong, forceful, resolute man, not easily deceived."

"Old age, however, an altered him that it was not difficult for anyone in whom he had confidence to control him completely and mislead him to their own advantage. His advanced age and the undisciplined mind accompanying same readily explain his changes of character."

The chief property in this country is worth $2,000,000.

New York, May 8.—Bench warrants were issued today for Charles W. Morse and his three sons, Edwin A. Benjamin W. and Harry F., because they failed to appear to plead on indictments brought in Federal Court charging them with use of the mails to defraud investors in stock of the United States Steamship Company. Judge Hand issued the warrants on the request of Assistant United States District Attorney John P. Joyce.

When the case was called last week it was stated that Charles W. Morse was in Augusta, Me., but would be on hand today. Stewart G. Gibney, an attorney named in the same indictments, was allowed until May 15 for pleading because his counsel is out of town.

CONWAY PICKS SHADE TO WHIP DOYLE IN TONIGHT'S FIGHT

Dave Shade, Pacific Coast welterweight champion, will try to whiff his way in the general direction of another bout with Jack Britton by winning over Paul Doyle at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena tonight. Doyle will make a brave attempt to convince the world that the latest welterweight star is merely a false alarm.

Doyle will rest his all on the power of his right hand, which will be reinforced by a nimble pair of feet and the knowledge of "mundo" boxing.

When the match was first announced, Shade seemed to have a monopoly on the dear old fans. But when the followers of the little game looked the dope over many of them looked under the Doyle name.

Doyle's performance in major efforts have won him much backing. It is hard to get away from the fact that Doyle has handled Kiki a valiant, knocked out N. O. Loughlin, defeated Nate Siegal and always made things interesting for Eddie Sherry.

Doyle is a big money fighter. Put him against a doll and he'll fight just fast enough to win. But start him against a real one and he'll be back along like a million dollars.

School Best Shade;
So, Why Not Doyle?
The Doyle supporters also point to the fact that Frankie Schell burst out a fifteen-round victory over the Leo Flynn entry. Then Al Norton held his own in a ten-round, scorable.

There's no getting away from the fact that Doyle, before either Schell or Norton with his right hand and behind him a steady left. We know of a lot worse jobs than naming the winner of tonight's scorable.

But we're down to pick the dope to the boys and we're not going to pick Shade because it's a tough one to guess.

Well, ladies and gentlemen, we say in a lead voice:
Shade will win!
But if he's by a shade in all probability, Doyle's run punch; he can box. And he's got class and experience.

Pretty tough to toss the well-known reputation against such a conclusion.
But it is our job to name 'em as best we can and we're not going to run to cover merely because a matchmaker has signed up a couple of boys who are very even in matched.

Doyle Is Best Short-End Bet of the Year

DETROIT OPENS NAVALY WILL HAVE HARD TIME BEATING TECH

THE RESULT OF THE MEET WITH HARVARD SATURDAY DETERMINED THE MAKEUP OF COACH FRANK M. KANALY'S SQUAD OF ENGINEERS WHO WILL MAKE THE TRIP TO ANNAPOLIS WHERE THEY WILL MEET THE NAVY ATHLETES NEXT SATURDAY.

The Crimians' engagement seemed to have a disastrous effect on the warriors of the Cardinal and Gray. It did not help the Tech men's plans. Several weight men came through unexpectedly, while the rest of the field men were a little under form.

The under path performers were far behind schedule, and the Navy's trip to Annapolis was a bad reversal of the first Western invader's haven't much chance to start climbing in the next few days.

Tracy, of course, expects to get his team in motion shortly, but he has been at a bad time for himself. The Detroit pictures have had a bad spring, the team hasn't been in the field, and things generally have not made life miserable for the great Tech, who finds managing a much more job than hitting and ever used to be.

Detour, a lot of other clubs this spring has pretty good material, but can't seem to use it to advantage. Getting away from the West, where harsh treatment was accorded an every able, may help the visitors to hurdle onto the winning trail, though the Red Sox don't figure to give the Sox much, if any, opportunity.

Tracy's appreciation of ball players has collected five out of six ball games, three against the champions, and in two games here with the Senators looked like a real first division group.

Before a big crowd on Saturday the Fenway Field was stacked up against good pitching and a flourish without ever turning a hair. The Sox are playing chances and getting away from them. In that ever ticklish situation, three no-hits, one out and a lone run needed in the fifth, and Harry saved Horne Pennock a defeat, making it a situation for him instead.

The second baseman, who is playing great ball, at last and solid, made a whole lot of effort, when he knocked down the left field bleachers and incidentally wrecking a few runs and jinx and times, and collected a fourth fly that ended the game.

And throughout two games, the athletes have been coming through with just these same kind of stunts, much to the delight of a popular audience and a good deal of constant defeat of their other ball club.

Two shutouts are what you might call a very successful start for a team. It was Altek Ferguson's turn to give this team a good start, as he became quite an important personage by holding the Sox down to a close his short time back.
